

Tips for Reading to Your Child

Reading to your child does not have to mean reading a book - it could be an article from one of their magazines, or a newspaper with older children.

Likewise, telling your child stories does not mean that you need to have a book in front of you - made-up stories can be just as much fun! To involve your child in the story, you could even get them to tell you 3 objects they want to be mentioned in the tale. They can then have fun trying to spot where they come into the story.

Below are some videoclips with tips on reading to your child. Follow the links to find out more.

Bedtime stories - Michael Rosen (We're going on a bear hunt):

<http://www.wordsforlife.org.uk/michael-rosen-tips-reading-bedtime-stories>

The British Council shows examples of how to read with your child:

<http://www.britishcouncil.org.sg/en/features/reading-your-children>

Reading to your child by reading specialist Anne Glass:

<http://www.howcast.com/videos/460482-How-to-Read-with-Your-Child>

Also, check out these pages from the Reading Recovery website for children aged 3-7:

<http://readingrecovery.ioe.ac.uk/advice/27.html>

If you have any questions about reading to your child, please do not hesitate to contact Mrs Chapman.

Disclaimer:

We are not responsible for any content posted on external sites. Please make sure an adult is always present when your child is on the internet.